Re: Potential Conflicts of Interest – Waiver
E&B File No. 9097-0001

Dear Diane:

Thank you for your call earlier this month related to a potential development opportunity in Bellevue and how urban renewal/revenue allocation financing may be used as a tool to support the proposed private development. I have enjoyed working with the Bellevue Urban Renewal Agency (BURA) and appreciate the opportunity to discuss potential projects.

In follow up to our call, I have had an opportunity to review the potential conflicts issue as touched on in the call. I am aware the proposed development project currently is in its preliminary due diligence stage of review concerning real property located in unincorporated Blaine County, which area is between the city of Hailey and the city of Bellevue (the "Private Development"). Prior to your call, I had limited communications with representatives from the Hailey Urban Renewal Agency (HURA) and the Oppenheimer Development Corporation (ODC), the development team related to the Private Development, including a consultant, Phil Kushlan. You advised during our call that the area under consideration for the project is within the city of Bellevue's Area of City Impact located in unincorporated Blaine County. My general understanding is ODC has been transparent that it is having discussions concerning the Private Development with both the city of Hailey and the city of Bellevue, and that the discussions have included how urban renewal/revenue allocation financing may be used as a tool to support the proposed Private Development.

Conflicts of Interest

Notice of potential conflicts of interest.

The Idaho Rules of Professional Conduct (the "Rules") require us to evaluate whether there exist any ethical constraints to representing BURA in connection with the proposed Private Development, which scope could ultimately be expanded to include preparation and approval of a new urban renewal plan. Prior to the brief call with you on November 4, 2021, BURA has not specifically approached Elam & Burke, P.A. (the "Firm") concerning the development of a new urban renewal plan/revenue allocation project area; however, Ashley Dyer has previously inquired about the plan amendment process although no specific details were shared.

As you are aware, the Firm currently represents HURA. The relationship between BURA and HURA may create a technical adverseness between BURA and HURA and, as described in the Rules, presents a potential concurrent conflict of interest for the Firm in its representation of BURA.

Under the ethical rules applicable to our profession, it would be a conflict of interest for the Firm to simultaneously represent one client (BURA) in a matter that is adverse to another client (HURA) even if the matters involving our representation of the other client and BURA are wholly unrelated and if different lawyers do the work. Additionally, it would be a conflict of interest if there is a significant risk that the representation of BURA would be materially limited by the Firm's responsibilities to HURA. Under the ethical rules, the Firm believes the conflict that exists here can be waived if all clients involved give their informed written consent after consultation following clarification of the jurisdictional issue, specifically, confirmation by the developer as to annexation status and next steps. Until the jurisdictional issue is clarified, the Firm should not engage in any further discussions concerning the Private Development with either HURA or BURA.

Accordingly, we are asking that BURA agree to waive any conflict with respect to the Firm's representation of HURA in its current and future matters that it may bring to the Firm unrelated to the Private Development and upon clarification of the jurisdictional issue related to the Private Development, so long as the representation of you by the Firm will not serve as grounds to move for any disqualification of the Firm in its representations of HURA in its matters. We have requested similar agreements from HURA.

While the representation of HURA is not directly adverse to BURA, it is important to recognize the relationship between HURA and BURA, and the potential for conflict. My limited understanding is the Private Development is located within an area that has caused jurisdictional disputes between the city of Bellevue and the city of Hailey. I am also aware there have been communications concerning the Private Development with both the city of Bellevue and the city of Hailey. I am not familiar with the annexation process and am unclear as to the scope of the potential jurisdictional issues related to annexation in this specific area. I also understand there may be issues concerning areas of city impact between the city of Bellevue and the city of Hailey, which issues may only be resolved by the two cities, ODC, and possibly Blaine County. The Private Development is the type of development that typically will seek assistance from an urban renewal agency to fund certain eligible public improvements. While it is recognized HURA and BURA are separate and distinct entities from their sponsoring cities, the use of the tool to incent development at this stage could lead potential conflict.

The ethical rules provide guidance as to “material limitation” to representation where there may not be an actual conflict, but due to the relationships between the entities, the Firm’s representation to BURA related to the Private Development could inadvertently be materially limited by its representation to HURA:

Even where there is no direct adverseness, a conflict of interest exists if there is a significant risk that a lawyer's ability to consider, recommend or carry out an appropriate course of action for the client will be materially limited as a result of the lawyer's other responsibilities or interests. . . . The mere possibility of subsequent harm does not itself require disclosure and consent. The critical questions are the likelihood that a difference in interests will eventuate and, if it does, whether it will materially interfere with the lawyer's independent professional judgment in considering alternatives or foreclose courses of action that reasonably should be pursued on behalf of the client.

Portion of Note 8, Rule 1.7 of the Idaho Rules of Professional Conduct.

Certainly, once the Private Development is properly annexed into either city of Hailey or the city of Bellevue, the potential conflict is removed and the Firm may provide legal representation to BURA (and/or HURA) including but not limited to the establishment of a new project area to support the Private Development, the eligibility of certain public infrastructure improvements for reimbursement from revenue allocation proceeds and/or other financing options.

The Rules require that we advise you of the risks should the Firm obtain a waiver to continue to represent BURA and HURA related to the Private Development. The first is that the Firm may be less vigilant and effective in representing BURA because of the allegiance that it owes to HURA. Without a full and complete understanding of any potential jurisdictional issues between the City of Bellevue and the City of Hailey (if any), it would be challenging for the Firm to advise both HURA and BURA as to how the urban renewal tool could be used to support the Private Development. Certainly, once the property is annexed into either the city of Hailey or the city of Bellevue, any potential jurisdictional issue is resolved, which resolves any potential conflict. The second risk is that the Firm has an equal duty of loyalty to each client, and each client has the right to be informed of anything bearing on the representation that might affect that client’s interest and the right to expect that the lawyer will use that information to that client’s benefit. As a result, information may be shared, and should BURA decide that some matter material to the representation should be kept from HURA, then the Firm will be required to withdraw its representation. To the extent certain information should be kept confidential, both HURA and BURA would be required to agree and consent on the scope of any confidentiality. Finally, due to the relationship between the entities, it must be assumed if litigation occurs between BURA and HURA, which is unlikely, the attorney-client privilege will not protect communications with counsel from disclosure. Because of the importance of sharing information to assess any potential concern, BURA and the Firm agree to keep each other informed of current circumstances.

There is no claim or lawsuit currently pending between BURA and HURA. Should a claim or issue arise by and between BURA and HURA, the Firm would not be able to represent the interests of either HURA or BURA and would withdraw its representation.

Any other future conflict between HURA and BURA unrelated to the Private Development is difficult to predict. The Firm understands advance consent of future conflicts is dependent on the particular circumstances. The Firm will advise you of circumstances that may be perceived as a potential conflict and request your specific consent in those circumstances.

Based on the foregoing, under Rule 1.7(b) of the Idaho Rules of Professional Conduct, upon resolution of the jurisdictional concern: (a) the Firm reasonably believes that it will be able to diligently represent its clients; (b) the proposed representation is not prohibited by law; (c) the representation as proposed will not involve assertions of claims by one client against the other represented by the Firm in the same matters; and (d) each affected client has, or will, provide informed consent in writing.

Waiver

A waiver of a conflict of interest implicates legal issues for you, including issues as to the nature and scope of the waivers and their potential significance for you. The Firm is not disinterested as to such issues and, therefore, cannot advise you on them. Should you have questions, we recommend you seek independent legal advice on this matter. Pursuant to such consultation and the matters discussed herein, we will treat your acceptance of this letter as informed consent to our current conflict of interest with HURA.

Approval

If the foregoing terms are acceptable to you, please obtain the required approval and return a signed copy of the enclosed letter, retaining an original for your files.

We are pleased to have the opportunity to serve as your counsel and look forward to a continuing mutually satisfactory and beneficial relationship. While an actual conflict of interest may not arise, it is important to daylight the concerns to avoid any issues, real or perceived, down the road. We are deeply committed to the proposition that our clients must be satisfied with the quality of our services. Our effectiveness and your best interest are enhanced by an atmosphere of candor and confidence between us, not only as to the facts and circumstances of the legal issues on which we are working, but also as to the attorney-client relationship itself. If at any time you have questions, we hope that you will contact us immediately.

Hi Ashley,

Bryce Turzian, owner of the garden center asked me to get back to you on the playground upgrade.

How many square feet is the area to be covered?

Do you use playground bark or small bark? We have the small bark at the garden center if you want to stop by and approve. We would order the playground bark.

Bryce indicated pricing:
Cost plus 30% on material
$50.00 per hour/per man

We will be able to complete this project the end of October.

Let us know if you want to go forward, as soon as possible, due to if you go with the playground bark we will need to order out of Rexburg.

Thank you

Shelley
